He values shared governance and is committed on that as it defines his relationship with faculty. Dr. Dunn thanked faculty for their many kindnesses. He asked faculty to share their questions and concerns as he looks forward to a great relationship.

REPORTS

Board of Regents – Dr. Terry Strieter presented his last report as regent. He reported on international education initiatives and the council established to advise the president. Dr. Jim McCoy, associate provost, chairs the council. The board met on December 8. Agenda items included: construction updates, relocation of ROTC and TRIO programs, gifts to the university, and faculty/staff appointments.

The board reviewed the master facilities plan. Capital construction priorities for the university are: 1) science complex, 2) BVC, 3) library, and 4) additional farmland. A new facilities study for a new library is underway. The board voted to evaluate the president yearly. The last two contracts have rolled over automatically. A sub-committee voted to establish an annual system. The board was presented a study of how the nine-month faculty contract has benefited the university. The study supports the change from ten-month faculty contracts.

The board heard a report from the president on the new regional stewardship initiative offered to institutions by CPE. The university will be eligible for an initial $200,000 to set up an office and $300,000 the second year. CPE liked the original proposal and asked for minor changes. A regional advisory board must be established.

Tuition rates were discussed. The CPE has set a cap of 9.5%. Tuition, housing, and dining rates will be set at the February 23 meeting of the board. Historical data will be used to set housing and dining fees early to help with recruitment.

The board heard a report from Vice President Robertson on African-American students at MSU. Our efforts are being reviewed in light of increased competition for students. The University of Kentucky has hired four new recruiters. Murray now enrolls 601 African-American students for approximately six percent of the student population.

The audit committee asked for advance information on financial/budget items.

Dr. Jay Morgan, newly elected Faculty Regent, thanked Dr. Strieter for working with him on a good transition and complimented Dr. Dunn for his willingness to listen to faculty issues. He sees that relationship being good as well.

The recommendation to change the percentage of employer contributions to KTRS for those enrolled in an optional retirement plan (ORP) has moved out of the KTRS Board and introduced to legislators. Language for a bill will be reviewed/recommended by the Legislative Research Commission (LRC). The recommendation includes a 5.1% fixed rate and a mid-career transition program.

Dr. Morgan shared some of his initiatives as he begins his tenure on the Board of Regents. He is recommending another way to accomplish summer orientation in lieu of faculty being required to be on campus on Sundays. He and Dr. Strieter continue to look at the salary study to roll out more of the recommendations made. He is also working on inviting individual board members to campus more to look at the life of faculty in and out of the classroom.

Academic Policies – No report.

Finance – Have not met. Scheduled to meet next Tuesday.

Governmental Affairs – CPT Bates, chair, reporting that the committee continues to track several state-wide issues; such as, a student bill of rights and use of surplus funds. A resolution will be drafted for senate approval to support applying surplus monies to KTRS. CPT Bates met with Regent Morgan yesterday to discuss the issue. CPT Bates will supply links to information on a student bill of rights.

Handbook and Personnel – Chair McCreary reported that the committee is considering ramifications of stopping the tenure clock and procedures to implement across campus. He will try to have a committee meeting prior to the next senate meeting.

Rules, Elections, and Bylaws – Vice President Pittman-Munke presented the guidelines and timeline for this year's teaching award process (posted to the Faculty Senate website). The board of regents recommends that a student serve on each collegiate selection committee. The status of military science faculty will be researched in regard to voting status. The committee will be meeting by email to review procedures for this spring's university governance elections. Another election for faculty regent must be held (per state statute). Dr. Morgan's present term expires June 30, 2007.

President White announced that the senate will elect a new representative to the University Intercollegiate Athletic Council beginning July 1, 2007, for a three-year term. Dr. Wattier has informed him that he will not seek re-election.

Academic Council – The undergraduate studies committee has reviewed 14 items on first reading and double/triple that on second readings getting ready for the new catalog this summer. Nine courses had international components. The graduate committee will meet on January 25 at 2:30 p.m. The library and academic support committee has not met.

Insurance and Benefits – Senator Porter, SET representative to the university committee, reported that the committee met and approved recommendations routed through administrative services. The committee approved expanding the definition of immediate family for sick leave eligibility for temporary medical conditions to include grandparents and custodial children. The committee also approved a Staff Congress proposal to create a tuition waiver depository for use in the future. This would be limited to two courses per year with a maximum of ten and eight could only be used each year with a 50% reduction for the rest of tuition. These would be an addition to the current tuition waiver benefit. A question was raised if this waiver bank could be accessed if no longer employed at the university.

Residential Colleges – Senator Muscio noted that faculty and staff participation reports are due in to college heads with a significant amount of money attached to those reports. He also announced that two positions will be open for 2007-08 for Springer-Franklin and Regents Colleges.

Finance – Chair Lanier announced a meeting for Tuesday, February 13, at 3:30 p.m.

Governmental Affairs – Senator Gesler presented the report for CPT Bates. A state-wide student bill of rights will likely die in committee as it has in 14 other states. The committee recommends a resolution in support of the KTRS system. The resolution was amended and approved (on file in the senate office).

Handbook and Personnel – Chair McCreary presented three sections for approval after suspension of the bylaws. The first included the new president in the historical section of Chapter 1. The second (a new section, 2.7.3.2) extends the probationary period for tenure by one year if a faculty member experiences an extended life-changing event, and the third allows for that extension in the annual performance review (2.7.3.3). All three were approved. Dr. McCreary also asked faculty to submit suggestions for any other revisions.

Rules, Elections, and Bylaws – Vice President Pittman-Munke presented the guidelines for spring governance elections. A Regents' Forum will be held on April 12 in the Barkley Room of the Curris Center. He and Vice President Pittman-Munke met with the president and apprised him of general senate action and updates to the handbook. Dr. Dunn concurs that the handbook is an active and vital document. They talked of a system to facilitate future changes. Dr. White requested other items to raise with the president.

She encouraged faculty to apply and stated that this was the best job she has ever had.

New Business – The senate took a moment to honor Dr. Gary Brockway, Provost. President White read the resolution passed earlier in the meeting (on file in the senate office) and presented him with a plaque in heartfelt thanks on behalf of the MSU Faculty and his support of the Faculty Senate. Dr. Brockway responded that he appreciates all the faculty do for the university to provide opportunities for students through creation of a learning environment on campus and that these accomplishments are noted at CPE and national meetings. He noted that it was the faculty that attracted him to the university and thanked everyone in continuing their work.

Dr. Mark Wattier, CPE faculty representative, reported on the Regional Stewardship funding recently received by the institution. First year funding will be used to set up an office, hire a director and support staff, and provide operating funds. The office will report directly to the president and serve the region, and provide opportunities for additional funds. He sees this initiative as having the most potential of anything done by the CPE in a long time. Dr. Wattier updated the senate on the CPE presidential search. Faculty should take this seriously and provide qualified applicants for the position. President White thanked him for his representation and hard work on behalf of faculty across the state.

The committee has met and will meet routinely during March and April to bring the new document to the senate in May for approval. It would then go to the president and provost to be presented to the BOR. Dr. McCreary noted that it may not be a perfect document but is an acceptable starting point for a document that describes shared governance at Murray State that as faculty you would like to see with the administration. Murray senate representation is very involved. He introduced the new senator from Military Science, CPT Jonathan Ballard.

President White noted that the committee will be quite busy during this legislative year.

Handbook and Personnel – Chair McCreary, at-large senator, reported good news that the Board of Regents in May approved a revised Faculty Handbook and that a reference to the Faculty Handbook was reinstated on faculty contracts.

Dr. McCreary noted that the institution now has a policy document to work with and that the Board is interested in reviewing it once a year for all changes submitted during that year. The committee meets the third Tuesday of each month. The committee will review some clean up items noted during the last stages of revision.

Rules, Elections, and Bylaws – Vice President Pittman-Munke noted that the committee will review the senate’s bylaws in relationship to the new Handbook. Items to be reviewed are election procedures and status of faculty. ROTC faculty are not able to vote as they are not employed by the university. Senators were also asked to share items of concern with the senate leadership.

President White noted that each senate chair serves on the executive committee and that later in the meeting the senate will elect three at-large members to the executive committee. He asked senators to reflect on nominations.

Executive – President White reported that he had been asked to make a number of recommendations for appointments to university committees. Appointments to the Residency Appeals Committee are made by the president, and the senate was asked to make recommendations on three faculty vacancies. Senator Rose, government, law, and international affairs, asked if the controversy surrounding the student regent election had settled and encouraged that action be taken to avoid future situations.

Senator Hereford, engineering and physics, inquired on the intent of an external audit. Regent Morgan noted external validity/closure to internal/finance cabinet reviews and that an outside audit offers validity for requests of additional capital construction monies in the future. Senator Hereford suggested a concern that not enough funding is being asked for that contributes to replacement and overflow problems. Dr. Morgan will share that concern with the president.

Executive – Dr. White continued with the executive report. He congratulated Dr. Morgan in being elected vice chair of the Board. The floor was opened for nominations to the executive committee. REPORTS

Athletics

President White introduced Mr. Allen Ward, athletic director, who welcomes any feedback from faculty in the relationship of athletics to the student mission of the university. He introduced Mr. Bill Whitaker, faculty representative to the OVC/NCAA, and chair of the campus Intercollegiate Athletic Council, as the voice of the faculty to the president on athletic matters. Mr. Ward acknowledged his appreciation for the tremendous resources Mr. Whitaker brings to the program. Mr. Ward noted the value that an athletic program can bring to a campus providing opportunities for the institution to tell its story. He believes that a campus must position its coaches, administrators, and athletes to represent the university in a positive way and to expect accountability. He added the expectation of academic excellence and said that the university's well on its way of achieving its goals. The university has increased its academic score as measured by the NCAA; correlating into higher graduation rates of athletes. The program has developed an academic recovery plan and enhanced its computer labs. He thanked the faculty in assisting and supporting the programs/students in the athletic department.

Revenues through ticket sales have increased over the past three years making MSU the highest in revenues among the OVC benchmarks. Corporate sponsors and annual donations have also contributed. The university continues to support the athletic department as in other areas of the university.

The OVC requires four sports and the NCAA requires 14 in order to be a Division I member. In compliance with Title IX requirements, the university will need to increase women's sports as a proportionate share of the student body on campus. Softball may be added as the 11th women's sport.

In response to a question, Mr. Ward reported that the new football field came in $120,000 under budget. One-half was paid by the university and the other through the foundation. The field is already paid for. He noted the success of the Racer Club. New money will be sought in support of Title IX initiatives. Mr. Ward wishes to continue revenue growth and to win in the right way in benefiting the university and not being a detriment. He broke down the total budget.

Mr. Ward invited faculty to solicit any information from the Intercollegiate Athletic Council. Part of NCAA certification is operations responsibility. He wants the faculty to be supportive and proud of what the athletic program is doing. The athletic program recognizes the faculty as a vital component and appreciates the support of every faculty member. He mentioned Matt Kelly as their connection and hopes that he is working effectively with faculty in support of what they do.

Senate President White asked that the agenda be suspended and recognized President Dunn. Dr. Dunn extended personal greetings and best wishes to faculty.

He briefed those in attendance on discussions regarding the Paducah campus. Expansion will be considered for the next legislative session. Higher online fees are a concern for students. The university is transferring scholarship monies to non-traditional students for support.

Completion of the science complex remains as the university's first capital needs priority. New facilities at Breathitt Veterinary Center, renovation of Blackburn Science Building, and a new library are among other needs. Conversations continue on UK's medical school expansion to facilitate rural healthcare.

He reported that the letter of support of Dr. Dunn was well received by Board members during their review of the president.

The Board discussed achieving state priorities, particularly using the business plan to double the state's number of college graduates and limited capacity of the university due to our demographic location.

The Board accepted general university and athletic program audits. No improprieties were found by the auditors. Internal financial reporting structure has been addressed by the president. Senator Rose requested that copies of the audits be placed in the university library.

Eight hundred million was requested for capital projects across the Commonwealth.

Vice President Pittman-Munke, who also serves as the vice president of COSFL, added that COSFL will meet on January 12. An ITV connection will be arranged for those interested in attending here at Murray. President White defined COSFL as the state-wide faculty forum.

Guidelines will be established by the REB Committee.

Executive—President White thanked faculty for their input into the letter sent to the board regarding the evaluation of the university president. A number of items were listed commending his performance. Dr. White met with the president and talked about difficult issues still needing attention as noted by faculty in the process. Dr. Dunn was appreciative of the letter. He will meet with the senate's executive committee on January 15 in his effort to keep communications open and ongoing.

Dr. White thanked the finance committee for studying the issue of sick leave credit for retirees which is offered by most of the other universities in the state. Human Resources has been asked to review its policies.

The Library and Academic Support Committee will meet tomorrow (12/5). An idea of a new library building being explored by the administration and board will be placed on the committee's agenda. Senators Koren and Hereford serve on the committee. Regent Morgan added that the university has prioritized capital requests in its campus plan for facilities. There are four sites that could be used for a potential new library.

Senate members informally discussed library resources and academic/student affairs facility needs and the integration of online tools. The Academic Policies Committee of the senate will study any proposals and make recommendations to the Faculty Senate as appropriate.

The committee will next meet on Wednesday, Feb. 6th.

Noting real administrative support of the campaign, departments with highest participation will be recognized at the faculty banquet in the spring. She has more pledge cards along with designation cards. She reported that faculty and staff at Western contributed $55,000 last year. Senator Durr added that the various agencies make a huge difference in this community. Dr. Pittman-Munke reiterated the opportunity for faculty to directly make a difference in Murray and their respective communities. Local banks have partnered to give away a house to raise funds. The residential colleges and the President have bought tickets. Senator Rose asked if annual renewal of a payroll deduction was necessary. Dr. Pittman-Munke reported that it is at the present time but will check on possible options.

International Affairs Committees-Senator Saint Paul, modern languages, inquired about the composition of the international relations committee. It was shared that there are actually two committees dealing with internationalization of the campus. The International Affairs Executive Council is board appointed and chaired by Dr. Jim McCoy, associate provost for research, innovation, and global affairs. Its charge is to promote internationalization of the campus and to review and make recommendations to the provost and the president concerning procedures, policies, organization, resource allocation, and future priorities.

The Institute for International Studies Advisory Committee is an advisory body to the provost and the director of the Institute for International Studies on international activities on campus, as well as, the policies and procedures of the Institute, ESL, and other special programs. Dr. Fred Miller chairs the advisory committee to IIS and represents this committee on the International Affairs Executive Council. The whole implication is shifting responsibility of visiting schools to outreach. Dr. Porter noted that he is a member of Roads Scholars but has never been contacted by a team captain.

Dr. Pittman-Munke also noted that Ms. Taffler is meeting with team captains to discuss outreach with out of state schools as the focus becomes our service region.
