What does the term “Sponsored Programs” cover? Sponsored programs is a term often identified with research conducted by faculty members. Actually, the term is much broader. A better definition would be projects and/or activities conceived and conducted by faculty and staff which are supported in whole or in part by external funds awarded to the university.

What ideas do you have for project and activities that will inform your discipline, help students, or benefit any part of the university, its service area, or society as a whole? The key is to find someone or group that wants to fund what you would like to do.

OSP can assisted you in searching for funding options for your ideas. Contact OSP today and see how we can provide a “Full Service for You”!

Dr. Beth Rice

U.S. Department of Agriculture

National Food Service Management Institute

Murray State University is honored to have such great faculty within their walls - one of them being Dr. Beth Rice.

Currently Dr. Rice is one of six researchers across the nation conducting one-of-a-kind research. “Exploring How Elementary and Middle/Jr. High Students Preferences Impact Their Milk Choices” is the official title of the research project she is working on. Even though there has been research conducted on this topic before, there has never been a time where the students have been surveyed directly and asked what they personally prefer and why.

Dr. Rice has just begun her research and data collection but so far she has planned to work with the following school districts: Graves County, Mayfield, Murray, Ballard County. Rice is looking for more schools to survey in the South East region; she is also looking to travel as far as Louisiana, Alabama or Florida.

The grant allowing this research to happen is funded through USDA’s National Food Service Management Institute, the total project allotted MSU is $23,846. Data collection will be completed by late March. The research team will be presenting their preliminary findings, participating in a panel discussion and talking about the whole process at the National Food Service Management Education Council’s meeting in late March. The team will also be presenting at the School Nutrition Association in June. The researchers will compile a technical report for publication by the National Food Service Management Institute late 2015.

FUNDING OPPORTUNITY DATABASES

Info Ed/SPIN is a software provider to support Research Administration electronically. How can this help you?! There are two services provided by InfoEd that can benefit the researchers. SPIN, is the world’s largest database of funding opportunities. This database can be accessed as a funding opportunity search engine. The link can be found on the OSP website in the Funding Opportunity section. GENIUS is a central location for the researcher to house their curriculum vitae details in the form of a profile created by the researcher. Through the profile, the researcher also has access to email updates of funding opportunities tailored to their work. To set up a profile or to update a profile contact access the user guide on the OSP website in the Funding Opportunities page.

Grant Resource Center provides a funding opportunity database that includes private and federal announcements. A link to the Grant Search database is located in the Funding Opportunities section on the OSP website. To obtain the username and password required to access the database email msu.sponsoredprograms@murraystate.edu.
