WHEREAS: Murray State University has charged ad-hoc budget review committees to find ways to decrease the expenses of the University for the current and upcoming fiscal years;

WHEREAS: Murray State University has proposed elimination of several employee positions in the 2014-15 fiscal year budget;

WHEREAS: Murray State University is considering eliminating certain employee benefits for the 2014-15 fiscal year, including parking waiver for long-term employees, suspending the annual staff luncheon, ending wellness incentives, and increasing employee parking costs at the Murray campus;

WHEREAS: Murray State University’s Insurance and Benefits Committee vetted the tuition waiver policy in recent years and submitted a recommendation to the Vice President of Finance and Administrative Services in February 2012 requesting to change the tuition waiver policy to allow employees to transfer waivers to Extended Family Dependents, “biological” children, and to children of an age coinciding with the age for which a child would be eligible to be on the employee’s health insurance;

WHEREAS: Murray State University’s Vice President of Finance and Administrative Services responded to the University Insurance and Benefits Committee recommendations received in February 2012 regarding tuition waivers as follows;

“... Mercer Consulting’s analysis of this proposed policy change and data related to dependents determined that the cost to implement this plan would be nearly $108,000 per year. As you can see, adding extended family members & dependents to the list of eligible recipients of tuition waivers is clearly a substantial expense item. Unfortunately, the university is not in a position to significantly increase costs and, as a result, is choosing not to revise the policy at this time. …”

THEREFORE: Be it resolved that the Staff Congress strongly supports tabling any efforts to expand tuition waivers until a future date when the University’s budget is stabilized to the point that the University is not laying off employees or eliminating existing staff benefits.
