

Brie E. LaJeret, DNP, is a double board-certified adult geriatric nurse practitioner and psychiatric nurse practitioner, who is an assistant professor within the School of Nursing and Health Professions. She earned her B.S. in Nursing from Murray State University, her M.S. in Nursing from Vanderbilt University, her Doctorate of Nursing Practice from Murray State University, and a post-graduate certificate in Psych-Mental Health from Johns Hopkins University. She is also a graduate from Murray State's ROTC Battalion. She is a military veteran (retired Captain) of the Army Nurse Corps with almost two decades of nursing and leadership experience. Prior to returning to the Racine community, Dr. LaJeret owned her own psychiatric clinic and was voted Best Mental Health Provider in the county. She is a member of the American Association of Nurse Practitioners, the Gerontological Advanced Practice Nurses Association, the American Psychiatric Nurses Association, the American Nurses Association, and the Kentucky Nurses Association. Dr. LaJeret is passionate about preventative health and advocating for health policy that supports nurses, preventative health, and mental health.